

Society of Petroleum Engineers

SPE-229375-MS

Wellbeing and Mental Health: Creating a Supportive Work Environment

Manali Nagory and Abhijit Surwade, Pipeline Infrastructure Limited, Navi Mumbai, Maharashtra, India

Copyright 2025, Society of Petroleum Engineers DOI 10.2118/229375-MS

This paper was prepared for presentation at the ADIPEC held in Abu Dhabi, UAE, 3 – 6 November 2025.

This paper was selected for presentation by an SPE program committee following review of information contained in an abstract submitted by the author(s). Contents of the paper have not been reviewed by the Society of Petroleum Engineers and are subject to correction by the author(s). The material does not necessarily reflect any position of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, its officers, or members. Electronic reproduction, distribution, or storage of any part of this paper without the written consent of the Society of Petroleum Engineers is prohibited. Permission to reproduce in print is restricted to an abstract of not more than 300 words; illustrations may not be copied. The abstract must contain conspicuous acknowledgment of SPE copyright.

Pipeline Infrastructure Ltd (PIL) recognizes that employee wellbeing is not just a personal concern, but a strategic imperative closely tied to workplace safety. By acknowledging the intrinsic link between mental, physical, and emotional health and the ability to perform safely and effectively, PIL has embedded wellbeing into its organizational ethos. The company understands that when employees feel supported, valued, and mentally resilient, they are more likely to engage in safe practices, communicate openly about risks, and contribute to a culture of vigilance and care. This holistic approach to wellbeing—spanning health, work-life balance, values, social connection, personal growth, lifestyle choices, and financial stability—forms the backbone of PIL's safety-first philosophy, ensuring that wellbeing is not an afterthought but a proactive driver of operational excellence and employee satisfaction.

Understanding that fostering a culture of holistic wellbeing can enhance employee satisfaction, and overall organizational performance, PIL has developed an Employee Wellbeing Policy addressing wellbeing under seven domains: health, good work, values/principles, social, growth, good lifestyle choices, and financial wellbeing.

As a PIL commitment to employee safety and wellbeing, PIL conducted Safety and Wellbeing Culture Assessment along with British Safety Council. The output of the survey highlighted following gap in wellbeing:

Introduction

Pipeline Infrastructure Ltd (PIL) recognizes that employee wellbeing is not just a personal concern, but a strategic imperative closely tied to workplace safety. By acknowledging the intrinsic link between mental, physical, and emotional health and the ability to perform safely and effectively, PIL has embedded wellbeing into its organizational ethos. The company understands that when employees feel supported, valued, and mentally resilient, they are more likely to engage in safe practices, communicate openly about risks, and contribute to a culture of vigilance and care. This holistic approach to wellbeing—spanning health, work-life balance, values, social connection, personal growth, lifestyle choices, and financial stability—forms the backbone of PIL's safety-first philosophy, ensuring that wellbeing is not an afterthought but a proactive driver of operational excellence and employee satisfaction.

Understanding that fostering a culture of holistic wellbeing can enhance employee satisfaction, and overall organizational performance, PIL has developed an Employee Wellbeing Policy addressing wellbeing under seven domains: health, good work, values/principles, social, growth, good lifestyle choices, and financial wellbeing.

As a PIL commitment to employee safety and wellbeing, PIL conducted Safety and Wellbeing Culture Assessment along with British Safety Council. The output of the survey highlighted following gap in wellbeing:

Key Wellbeing Gaps Identified

1. Inconsistent Understanding and Communication of Wellbeing Benefits

- There is a notable difference in understanding of wellbeing benefits between Core Management Team (CMT), Functional Heads, and middle management. In some cases, employees were more aware of available benefits than their managers.
- Line managers often lack detailed knowledge of wellbeing services, limiting their ability to guide team members to the right support.

2. Workload Distribution and Stress Management

- Between 12% and 24% of employees feel they have challenges handling their workload.
- 12% to 22% of employees and managers do not believe PIL provides a supportive culture that addresses and manages workplace stress.

3. Psychological and Emotional Wellbeing: Policies and practices to promote work-life balance are not perceived as effective by 20% of employees in some locations.

4. Inconsistencies Across Locations: Wellbeing practices and their effectiveness vary significantly across different sites and teams, leading to inconsistent employee experiences.

5. Facilities and Lifestyle Support: Access to facilities like gyms, yoga and recreation is inconsistent, and not all employees feel able to use them due to work patterns or lack of guidance.

To address the gap identified in the Wellbeing, PIL collaborated with British Safety Council to create a Wellbeing Strategy.

The vision of PIL's wellbeing strategy is to create a workplace where employee wellbeing is at the core of the organization's operations. PIL collaborated with the British Safety Council on a 3-year journey implementing various initiatives led by dedicated Wellbeing Champions.

The Wellbeing Approach at PIL was implemented in the following phases:

Defining Wellbeing:

PIL defines wellbeing is 'an individual's ongoing state which enables a person to thrive'. This ongoing state is influenced and affected by various factors; therefore, it is essential to address wellbeing in a holistic manner. As per British Safety Council wellbeing comprises of seven domains as mentioned below:

Phase 1: Lead the Way

Define "What Good Looks Like": Use PIL's vision, mission, and values to set clear expectations for safety and wellbeing behaviors. PIL leaders collaborated in focused group to understand role of wellbeing and mental health and the need for integration of the same in PIL day to day operations.

The Wellbeing Vision, Mission and Value were cocreated to lead the culture of Wellbeing.

Phase 2: Creation of Governance Structure

Core Management Team

The Core Management Team (CMT) at Pipeline Infrastructure Ltd (PIL) plays a pivotal role in driving the wellbeing agenda. The following is the role of CMT in leading Wellbeing at PIL:

a. Strategic Leadership and Commitment

- The CMT is responsible for setting the tone at the top, visibly demonstrating commitment to both safety and wellbeing.
- They integrate wellbeing into the company's vision, mission, and values, ensuring it is a core organizational priority—not just a compliance requirement.
- CMT members are expected to champion wellbeing initiatives, allocate resources, and ensure that wellbeing is discussed alongside safety in all key forums

b. Policy Oversight and Governance

- The CMT oversees the development, review, and optimization of wellbeing-related policies, including stress risk management, work-life balance, and inclusion.
- They are accountable for establishing governance structures (such as the Wellbeing Committee) and ensuring these bodies have the authority and resources to drive change.

c. Communication and Role Modelling

- CMT members are expected to communicate the importance of wellbeing consistently and clearly across all levels of the organization.
- They serve as role models, demonstrating positive wellbeing behaviours, participating in wellbeing campaigns, and encouraging open dialogue about mental health and support services.

d. Accountability and Sustainability

- Ultimately, the CMT is accountable for embedding wellbeing into the fabric of the organization, ensuring that it is sustained beyond individual initiatives or leadership changes.
- They are tasked with ensuring that wellbeing is not just a program, but a lived value that influences decision-making, resource allocation, and daily operations.

Wellbeing Champions

Purpose & Role:

- Wellbeing Champions are employees (from any level or function) who volunteer or are nominated to actively promote and support wellbeing initiatives at the grassroots.
- They act as local ambassadors, role models, and first points of contact for wellbeing matters within their teams or sites.

Key Responsibilities:

- Awareness & Advocacy: Raise awareness about available wellbeing resources, programs, and support services.
- Peer Support: Offer informal support to colleagues, signposting them to professional help or HR as needed.
- Feedback Loop: Gather feedback, concerns, and suggestions from peers and relay them to the Wellbeing Committee.
- Initiative Implementation: Help organize and facilitate wellbeing activities, campaigns, and events at their respective sites.
- Culture Building: Model positive behaviours, encourage participation, and foster a culture of openness and psychological safety.
- Training: Participate in regular training and development to stay updated on wellbeing best practices and resources.

Selection & Development:

- Champions can be self-nominated or recommended by peers/managers.
- They receive specialized training (e.g., in mental health first aid, stress management, communication) and ongoing support from the Wellbeing Committee and HR.

Wellbeing Committee

Purpose & Role:

- The Wellbeing Committee is envisioned as a cross-functional group responsible for steering, coordinating, and sustaining wellbeing initiatives across PIL.
- It acts as a central body to review, recommend, and monitor wellbeing policies, programs, and interventions, ensuring alignment with PIL's vision, mission, and values.
- The committee bridges leadership intent and employee experience, providing a platform for feedback, innovation, and continuous improvement.

Key Functions:

- Strategic Planning: Periodically review the organization's wellbeing strategy, ensuring it addresses physical, mental, and social health.
- Policy Oversight: Oversee the implementation and effectiveness of wellbeing-related policies, including stress management, work-life balance, and inclusion.

- Program Coordination: Coordinate wellbeing campaigns, awareness sessions, and health-related activities across all sites and employee groups (including contractors).
- Feedback & Communication: Serve as a channel for employee feedback, suggestions, and grievances related to wellbeing, and ensure transparent communication of committee actions and outcomes.
- Recognition: Recommend and help implement wellbeing-specific recognition and reward schemes.
- Measurement: Track key wellbeing metrics and report progress to senior leadership.

Composition:

- The committee should include representatives from leadership, HR, site management, employee groups, and—importantly—Wellbeing Champions from various locations and levels.

Phase 3 Implementation of Wellbeing Initiatives

| Domain    | Ongoing Initiatives                              | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Initiatives Started/Planned for FY 25-26 | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Health    | Employee Assistance Program                      | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Counselling Session</li> <li>Webinar on Mental and Emotional Health</li> <li>On-Site Awareness session on Emotional and Mental Wellbeing</li> </ol>                                                                                                                                           | Emotional Guidance by Wellbeing Champion     | At PIL, Wellbeing Champions are trained peer supporters who offer emotional guidance by fostering psychological safety, encouraging open conversations, and connecting employees with appropriate resources to promote holistic wellbeing.              |
|           | Group Hospitalization                            | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Coverage Scope: Up to ₹10 Lakhs annually for employees, spouse, children, and parents</li> <li>Includes pre- and post-hospitalization expenses.</li> <li>Inclusive Enhancements: Maternity, LGBTQ partner coverage, posthumous dependent coverage, and off-roll employee benefits.</li> </ol> | Wellbeing awareness program                  | Focused programs on Wellbeing by Health experts/ doctors                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|           | OPD Benefits                                     | INR 35,000 for employees                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Wellbeing Sensitization                      | Wellbeing Sensitization workshop through E-Learning challenges                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Good Work | Industry wise competitive compensation structure | PIL's compensation framework is benchmarked against industry standards, ensuring equitable, performance-linked rewards across all employee levels while attracting and retaining top talent through a transparent grading system                                                                                                     | Continuous Development Conversations         | Continuous Development Conversations at PIL are structured quarterly dialogues between managers and employees that focus on role clarity, growth aspirations, and competency alignment, fostering a culture of ongoing feedback and career development. |

| Domain              | Ongoing Initiatives        | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Initiatives Started/Planned for FY 25-26 | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|---------------------|----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                     | Rewards & Recognition      | PIL's Reward and Recognition framework celebrates exemplary performance across all employee levels—through inclusive, differentiated awards fostering a high-performance culture aligned with organizational values.                            | Recognition Tree                             | The Recognition Tree at PIL is a visual appreciation board installed at Compressor Stations to celebrate employee achievements through appreciation notes, fostering a culture of recognition and motivation. |
|                     | Open Office Work Structure | PIL's open office layout eliminates cabins in favour of cubicles, fostering transparent communication, easy accessibility to leadership, and a collaborative culture across all levels of the organization.                                     | Wellbeing Facilities                         | Wellbeing Facilities like leg massager in compressor stations                                                                                                                                                 |
| Values/ Principles  | Diversity Hiring           | Focused Diversity Hiring and Hiring of returning mothers                                                                                                                                                                                        | Veerangana 2.0                               | Veerangana 2.0 is PIL's flagship DEI initiative aimed at fostering inclusive leadership, psychological safety, and career advancement for women across the organization                                       |
|                     | Pipeline Women Network     | PWN is PIL's women's network created to foster inclusion, collaboration, and empowerment among women employees through workshops, networking, and solution-driven dialogue across the organization                                              | DEI sensitization                            | Workshop on addressing Unconscious Biases & Micro-aggression at Workplace                                                                                                                                     |
|                     | Risk and Compliance at PIL | PIL's dedicated Risk & Compliance team proactively manages enterprise risks and workplace integrity, fostering a culture rooted in ethics, transparency, and accountability.                                                                    |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Collective / Social | Employee Engagement-TGIF   | TGIF (Thank God It's Friday) at PIL is a biweekly employee engagement initiative that blends fun, wellness, and inclusion through themed activities, celebrations, and creative sessions—fostering camaraderie and a vibrant workplace culture. | Gallup Action Plan                           | Guiding leadership to enhance workplace culture through data-driven action planning, coaching, and continuous development conversations                                                                       |
|                     | Buddy Program              | PIL's Buddy Program pairs new joiners with approachable colleagues to ease their transition, foster cultural integration, and build early professional networks through guided support during their first month                                 |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                     | Suggestion Box             | A digital platform on HRMS where employees can share workplace improvement                                                                                                                                                                      |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

| Domain          | Ongoing Initiatives          | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Initiatives Started/Planned for FY 25-26 | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------|------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                 |                              | ideas across HR, Admin, IT, and HSSE, with monthly reviews by respective teams for action                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                 | Grievance Portal             | A transparent channel for stakeholders to raise support request pertaining to HR                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                 | Listen Hour                  | Listen Hour at PIL is a structured engagement forum where employees across cohorts share feedback through open dialogue, surveys, and anonymous inputs—driving actionable improvements in policies, wellbeing, and workplace experience.                                             |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                 | Town Hall                    | PIL's Quarterly Town Hall is a transparent, organization-wide forum where leadership shares strategic updates, celebrates achievements, and invites employee feedback—fostering alignment, engagement, and a culture of open communication.                                          |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                 | Gallup Survey                | The Gallup Q12® Survey at PIL is a strategic engagement initiative that captures employee sentiment across cohorts, guiding leadership to enhance workplace culture                                                                                                                  |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Personal Growth | Learning and Development     | PIL's Learning and Development framework empowers employees through a blend of immersive learning, on-the-job training, E-Learning, and leadership programs—strategically aligned to build future-ready capabilities across technical, functional, behavioural, and cultural domains | Innovation Lab                               | PIL's Innovation Lab is a dynamic platform on Employee Connect HRMS that empowers employees to submit ideas, challenge the status quo, and co-create impactful solutions through mentorship, implementation support, and recognition                                                |
|                 | Education Assistance Program | PIL's Education Assistance Program enables regular employees to pursue part-time, job-relevant courses by reimbursing tuition and exam fees up to a particular limit fostering continuous learning and career growth.                                                                | Talent Management                            | Talent Management at PIL is a strategic framework that identifies, develops, and retains high-potential employees, successors, and subject matter experts through differentiated career paths, and leadership development programs aligned with business needs and future readiness |
|                 | Coaching                     | Coaching at PIL is a personalized, goal-oriented development journey designed to help leaders unlock their potential, enhance strategic thinking, and lead with confidence.                                                                                                          |                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

| Domain                 | Ongoing Initiatives         | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Initiatives Started/Planned for FY 25-26 | Description                                                                                                                              |
|------------------------|-----------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Good Lifestyle Choices | Wellbeing facilities at PIL | PIL's workplace infrastructure includes Porta Cabins and recreation facilities at Compressor Stations, a well-equipped gym and healthy snack options at the Head Office, all designed to promote employee wellbeing and engagement.        | PIL FitQuest 2.0                             | Team driven health initiative to inculcate healthy lifestyle practices                                                                   |
|                        | PIL FitQuest                | PIL FitQuest was a 3-month fitness challenge that promotes healthy living and dietary habits among employees, guided by professional nutritionists and supported through self-nomination, community engagement, and milestone celebrations |                                              |                                                                                                                                          |
|                        | Annual Sports               | PIL's Annual Sports Tournament is a high-energy, organization-wide celebration of teamwork and wellbeing, featuring indoor and outdoor games across HO and Compressor Stations.                                                            |                                              |                                                                                                                                          |
| Financial Wellbeing    |                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Financial Literacy Session                   | Empowering employees with practical tools and expert insights to make confident financial decisions and build a secure financial future. |

Wellbeing Reimbursement

Purpose:

The Wellbeing Reimbursement program is designed to financially support employees in pursuing activities and services that enhance their overall wellbeing.

Key Features:

Eligible Expenses: PIL's Wellbeing Reimbursement program covers a wide range of activities and services aimed at supporting employees' physical and mental health. Eligible expenses include gym or health club memberships, charges for personal fitness trainers, and fitness classes taught by certified instructors—such as aerobics, kickboxing, yoga, Pilates, and taekwondo. Employees can also claim reimbursement for yoga studio sessions or other fitness and exercise classes that take place outside of a typical gym or health club environment. Additionally, enrolment or membership fees for playing sports or participating in sports training programs are covered. This comprehensive approach ensures that employees have the flexibility and financial support to pursue diverse wellbeing activities that best suit their individual needs and preferences.

Annual Limits: There is a defined annual limit up to which employees can claim reimbursement, making the benefit accessible and equitable.

Simple Process: The process is streamlined to encourage participation—employees submit receipts or proof of participation, and claims are processed efficiently.

Impact of Wellbeing Initiative:

- High Engagement: The program saw strong initial uptake following its launch, with employees actively submitting claims for diverse wellness activities
- Cross-Domain Participation: Employees utilized the benefit across multiple domains—physical fitness, mental wellness, and sports engagement—indicating broad relevance and appeal
- HRMS Integration: The activation of the reimbursement tab on HRMS facilitated ease of access and encouraged participation

Wellbeing Leave at PIL

Purpose and Intent: Wellbeing Leave is a dedicated provision under PIL's Wellbeing Policy aimed at supporting employees during emotionally and physically challenging times. Specifically, it is designed to offer compassionate support in two key scenarios:

- Bereavement: When an employee experiences the loss of a close family member.
- Caregiving: When an employee needs to care for an unwell family member.

This initiative reflects PIL's commitment to fostering a culture of empathy, care, and holistic wellbeing, recognizing that personal circumstances can significantly impact an employee's mental and emotional health.

Impact and Utilization:

- Wellbeing Leave utilization stood at 31 days across the organization, indicating early adoption and growing awareness. While this is modest compared to other leave types, it reflects a targeted use for specific emotional and caregiving needs.
- Employees highly value the flexibility and empathy embedded in the Wellbeing Leave policy.
- Those who availed the leave reported better recovery from stress and burnout, leading to improved productivity upon return.
- The initiative is seen as a symbol of organizational care, reinforcing trust and psychological safety

Employee Wellbeing Program with Lyra

Lyra ICAS is PIL's designated Employee Wellbeing Partner (EWP), offering a range of mental health and emotional wellness services to employees and their families. It is part of Lyra Health, a global leader in mental health support.

Key Services Offered

- Counselling Services: Lyra ICAS provides confidential counselling for a wide spectrum of issues including:
  - a. Emotional and mental health challenges
  - b. Relationship issues
  - c. Substance abuse and behavioral addictions
  - d. Crisis intervention and suicide prevention
  - e. Child and adolescent therapy
  - f. Sexuality and gender identity support

These services are available to both employees and their family members, and are delivered via phone, video, or in-person sessions.

- Webinars and Awareness Programs: Lyra ICAS hosts monthly webinars under the "Webinar-a-Month" initiative, focusing on topics such as:

- Future-readiness and mental health resilience
- Coping with workplace stress
- Emotional intelligence and self-care strategies

These sessions are designed to build awareness, reduce stigma, and equip employees with practical tools for mental wellbeing.

- Onsite Orientation and Awareness Sessions: Lyra ICAS also supports location-wise orientation sessions facilitated by Wellbeing Champions. These sessions include:
  - Introduction to Lyra ICAS services and app usage.
  - Interactive discussions on emotional wellbeing and coping mechanisms.
  - Awareness campaigns on mental health resources available to employees
- Lyra Wellbeing Hub App:

The Lyra Wellbeing Hub App is a digital platform provided by Lyra Health India, designed to support employees' mental and emotional wellbeing. It offers curated articles, expert-led videos, self-assessment tools, and live chat counselling with professional therapists.

Key Features of the App:

- Lifestyle Counselling: Guidance on managing daily habits, routines, and stressors.
- Mental Health Support: Access to confidential counselling for emotional challenges, anxiety, depression, and more.
- Workplace Counselling: Support for navigating professional stress, conflict, and burnout.
- Conflict Mediation: Tools and resources to help resolve interpersonal issues at work.
- Self-Wellbeing Assessment: Interactive tools to evaluate personal wellbeing and identify areas for improvement.
- Educational Content: Articles and videos on topics like resilience, emotional intelligence, and coping strategies.

Employee Feedback:

- Employees appreciated the confidentiality and accessibility of Lyra's services.
- The interactive nature of sessions (e.g., gamification, storytelling) made mental health education more relatable.
- Managers reported greater confidence in identifying and supporting team members facing emotional challenges
  - PIL FitQuest: PIL FitQuest is a structured, three-month fitness challenge launched in January 2025 to promote healthy lifestyle habits and improved dietary practices among employees. It is part of PIL's broader wellbeing strategy and reflects the company's commitment to holistic employee wellness

Key Features of the Program

- Self-Nomination Based Participation: Employees are encouraged to nominate themselves, ensuring voluntary and committed engagement. Only those who register through the official consent form are eligible to participate

- Professional Guidance: PIL partnered with My Health Buddy (MHB) to provide expert-led fitness coaching. A designated nutritionist and dietician visited twice a month to guide participants on fitness routines and dietary improvements
- WhatsApp Community: Participants were invited to join a dedicated WhatsApp group where MHB coaches shared updates, guidelines, and challenges. This helped foster peer motivation and real-time engagement
- Closure and Celebration
- Upon completion of the challenge, a closure meet was organized to celebrate success stories and gather feedback from participants. This was facilitated through a virtual session with the MHB team

Strategic Objectives

- Promote Health & Wellness: Encourage employees to adopt sustainable fitness and dietary habits.
- Build a Culture of Care: Reinforce PIL's wellbeing philosophy through active participation and support.
- Drive Engagement: Use gamified challenges and community interaction to keep participants motivated.

Impact:

- The initiative saw high participation rates, especially among employees seeking structured wellness support.
- FitQuest was one of the most engaging and appreciated wellness programs
- Employees actively shared progress and success stories, contributing to a vibrant culture of health and accountability.
- Improved Physical Health: Participants reported better fitness levels and dietary awareness.
- Enhanced Emotional Resilience: Structured routines and peer support helped reduce stress and burnout.

Mental Wellbeing Bingo

The Mental Wellness Bingo Challenge at Pipeline Infrastructure Ltd (PIL) was a vibrant and engaging initiative launched during Mental Health Awareness Month in May 2025. It was designed to promote daily self-care, build healthy habits, and foster a culture of mental wellbeing across the organization.

Purpose and Design

The challenge aimed to encourage employees to take conscious steps toward mental wellness through small, meaningful actions each day. It was structured as a two-week digital engagement activity, open to all employees, with flexible start dates between May 26 and June 9, 2025

How It Worked

Participants downloaded a Bingo Card filled with wellness activities and were encouraged to complete streaks by engaging in at least six activities and posting daily updates on HRMS with the hashtag:

#BINGO COMPLETED

There were three levels of achievement:

- Growing: 5-day streak

- Thriving: 10-day streak
- Glowing: 15-day streak

Employees tracked their progress and shared screenshots of their completed cards via email and VIBE. The participants to complete any streak received exciting goodies and were featured on HRMS.

Result: Initiatives were evaluated based on Quantitative data gathered through Gallup Survey and focused Listen Hours across several cohorts at PIL. The surveys focused on employee satisfaction, mental health status, engagement levels, and perceptions of safety. Additionally, data on absenteeism, productivity, and usage rates of wellbeing resources (such as the Employee Wellbeing Program and flexible work options) were analysed to measure the tangible outcomes of the wellbeing initiatives. Qualitative data were collected through focus group discussions and interviews, providing insights into the personal experiences of employees and their perceptions of the company's wellbeing efforts. The results of the study revealed that the implementation of PIL's Employee Wellbeing Policy had a positive impact on both individual and organizational outcomes. PIL received an organizational mean score of 4.57 out of 5 and stands at the 71st percentile in the Global ranking in the Gallup Engagement Survey. Qualitative feedback around the Wellbeing Leave and reimbursement programs indicated that employees valued the flexibility provided by the work-from-home options and the ability to access mental health support at any time. As a step towards preventive healthcare, employees have extensively leveraged the PIL OPD benefits with 87-90% of OPD utilization. PIL had 13% utilization of sick leave indicative of the healthiness of the organisation. These findings highlight the effectiveness of PIL's wellbeing framework.

The PIL Wellbeing Approach is a proactive and holistic strategy that prioritizes the physical, mental, and emotional health of employees. As next key step to wellbeing PIL is participating in the Wellbeing Gap Analysis with BSC. The output of the wellbeing gap analysis will enable us to create a more robust framework of wellbeing. By embedding wellbeing into the core of organizational culture and operations, industries can expect measurable gains across several critical performance indicators:

1. Reduction in Lost Time Injury Frequency Rate (LTIFR): A focus on wellbeing fosters a safety-conscious environment where employees are more alert, physically capable, and mentally engaged. Ergonomic improvements, fatigue management, and stress reduction programs contribute to fewer accidents, leading to a significant reduction in LTIFR.
2. Improvements in Operational Uptime: Healthier employees mean fewer unplanned absences and better energy levels at work. This leads to smoother workflows, fewer disruptions, and sustained productivity—translating into higher operational uptime and equipment efficiency.
3. Decrease in Incident Reports or Near Misses: Mental wellbeing initiatives enhance employees' situational awareness, decision-making, and stress resilience. When employees are supported holistically, they are less likely to make errors or overlook safety protocols, resulting in a decline in near misses and reportable incidents.
4. Decrease in Employee Health Care Cost: Preventive wellness programs—such as regular health screenings, physical activity initiatives, and mental health support—reduce the occurrence and severity of chronic conditions. Over time, this lowers claims and insurance premiums, leading to a reduction in employer healthcare expenditure.
5. Decrease in Employee Turnover: Organizations that invest in wellbeing are perceived as caring and employee-centric. This improves job satisfaction, loyalty, and engagement, thereby reducing attrition rates and the costs associated with recruitment and onboarding.
6. Improved Physical and Mental Presentism of Employees: Beyond just being present, employees who are physically healthy and mentally well can focus, contribute, and collaborate more effectively. Enhanced presentism boosts team performance, innovation, and customer service quality.